FAQs

Q: Can I still purchase and process film at Camera Canada?

Yes, you can. Film is still available instore or ONLINE.

Q: Why is there an added charge for cut negatives?

There is more work involved in printing from a single negative. In order to get a digital file from the negative, it has to be manually scanned. It is more time consuming, therefore results in higher cost.

Q: I have a proof that I would like the print matched too, is this possible?

Colour matching is possible within approximately 10% accuracy. The original proof has to be provided at the time of printing. If we do not receive a proof, the colour correction made by the lab is final. Any redos will be billed.

Q: How should I submit my file for output?

Please submit all files in SRGB colour space. (NOT CMYK)

When creating a graphic file with images and text it is recommended to use 300 DPI.

If submitting artwork for printing, please provide a colour proof.

We offer many different photo novelty items on our Camera Canada Printlab Online. Go to cameracanada.com and click on the "Print Photos" above the banner on the website. Follow the prompts to order online content.

Q: I have a photo that I would like to have restored.

Bring the photo in to our downtown location and we will be able to give you a quote on the work. Every image varies depending on what we have to do. Prices range from $129 up to $249 for basic fixes.

Terms & Conditions

Notice of Discretion:

We reserve the right to return jobs unprocessed and/or unprinted that we deem to be inappropriate, obscene or in poor taste.

Shipping & Handling:

A fee of $15 will be charged to ship orders. This is a flat fee, whether delivery is local or nation wide. Outbound shipping is generally 3-5 days delivery to most Canadian locations.

Normal Service Times:

Each service has specified turnaround times. Request for completion dates before the normal due date will result in RUSH charges. Do not count Saturday, Sunday or Holidays when determining due dates.

Christmas Cut Off Dates:

Christmas is a busy time for photographic printing. We strive to complete as many orders as we can before Christmas, but sometimes volumes are too great to ensure timely delivery. Orders submitted past the due dates below cannot be guaranteed in time for Christmas.

Instore orders: December 20th

Online, instore pick up orders: December 20th

Online, novelty orders: December 8th.
